

Announcing the Winter 2010 three-part series...

Getting Beyond the Hype Wealth Management Unwrapped

for individuals seeking unbiased investor education

Thursday mornings, this winter

January 14, 2010 Getting Started – Learning the lay of the land of Wall Street

January 28, 2010 Digging Deeper – Discovering the right advisor or the best manager

February 11, 2010 Keeping Score – How do you know who's winning if no one's keeping score?

Tuition: $400 per morning or $1000 for the series (continental breakfast and light lunch provided)

Location: The offices of the Investor Education Collaborative and the Institute for Private Investors, 17 State Street, facing Battery Park in lower Manhattan.

To inquire or apply, please call (212) 693-1300 or email iec@investoreducationcollaborative.com

Founded in 2004, the Investor Education Collaborative is affiliated with the Institute for Private Investors [IPI] but is a separate company. IPI is a private membership organization providing an online community and non-commercial investor education since 1991 to 1100 investors with substantial assets from 18 countries and 40 U.S. states. Content for this inaugural series is inspired by 18 years of providing neutral investor education to the investor members of IPI.